

CGCF City Farmer Fall Session Application

Are you interested in helping run our urban farm? Common Good City Farm is an urban farm and education center growing food with and for the community and providing educational opportunities that help increase food security, improve health, and contribute to environmental sustainability. CGCF's City Farmers program is an opportunity to take your involvement with our farm to the next level. As a City Farmer, you will provide crucial help to our Farm Manager, completing essential farm tasks with increasing autonomy while building your own urban farming skill set.

As a City Farmer, you will get:

- Hands-on experience working on an innovative urban farm in the heart of DC
- Discounts on CGCF's 2017 workshops
- The opportunity to join a community of diverse, highly motivated people who are passionate about urban agriculture

We are looking for people:

- Who can commit to one 3 hour slot each week from August 23- October 26 (the same day each week)
- Who have experience in sustainable agriculture or a willingness to learn
- Who have a friendly, outgoing demeanor
- Who have the ability to work outside in all weather and to do physical labor

NAME _____ AGE _____

ADDRESS _____

TELEPHONE _____

EMAIL _____

The 2017 Fall session will run from August 23rd – October 26th.

Check which day(s) you would be available:

Wednesday 9am-12pm

Wednesday 4pm- 7pm

Thursday 3pm-6pm

Sunday 3pm-6pm

Are you a returning City Farmer?

Have you volunteered with us before?

What is your level of experience with urban agriculture?

Orientation will be held Sunday August 13th from 12:30-2:00 pm. This is required if you are new to the program. Can you attend orientation?

Thank you for applying! Please submit your application to info@commongoodcityfarm.org.

